P.C.

1. Accused-petitioner is life convict for committing murder of his wife. While he was on furlough he committed another offence under Section 376 and 506 and for the said offence also he is punished for 5 years rigorous imprisonment and fine Rs.500/-. He tried to have both the punishments concurrently. However, that prayer was rejected by the court. Now the petitioner has approached this court on the ground that he has completed 14 years of imprisonment and therefore he may be released from the jail. The said application made to the government has already been rejected and therefore the present petition.

2. The facts are eloquently clear that this is not a case where mercy should be shown by the State Government to the accused, as the accused as committed another offence when he was on furlough. The petition is without any merits and hence rejected.
